

Free accounting software for SMEs now further enhanced

30/06/2005

Latest version of AccountsOffice – a powerful and free of charge accounts package – is now available at www.winweb.com

London, 28 June 2005. Small and medium-sized companies now have access to an even more comprehensive range of free business services, specifically designed to meet their needs. The latest version of Winweb International's website (v3.0) now includes AccountsOffice, a powerful, online tri-ledger, multi-currency accounts package which gives SMEs the opportunity to cut costs while maintaining highly professional financial administration.

AccountsOffice is the latest enhancement to Winweb's website and includes greater functionality than the company's existing package, previously found at 20four7.com. The industry's first accounting solution to be available free of charge, AccountsOffice is already used by many SMEs for its unique combination of power and cost-effectiveness, offering all the management and reporting functions required by businesses within a fast, easy-to-use and ultra-secure online environment. It's also available free to accountants and bookkeepers, providing online access to clients' accounts in real-time.

The latest version of AccountsOffice includes an Online Calendar, Address Book and an Email Messaging Centre. All data is backed up daily, and data exchanges are subjected to a rigorous virus check.

Stefan Töpfer, CEO and chairman at Winweb commented, "The latest enhancements to AccountsOffice further demonstrate our ongoing commitment to the development of a single, comprehensive resource for smaller businesses. Rapidly becoming the de facto service for UK SMEs across many sectors, Winweb offers a range of innovative tools and technologies to increase business productivity and ultimately improve the bottom-line."

Other online services available from Winweb include GlobalOffice, designed to help businesses maximise their returns on export trade, and OnlineOffice, which includes AccountsOffice plus e-Quote, e-Shop, e-Invoice, e-Payment, Customer Care Management and more. The site also has an extensive library designed to provide support information on all business issues relevant to the SME. All services are provided free of charge, and access requires no more than a simple registration procedure.
